population issues must continue to be addressed. The outcome of this Commission should complement the inputs made so far to the Post-2015 Process and should ultimately reflect their overall balance particularly those of the Open Working Group on Sustainable Development Goals.

We should address human rights issues such as justice, equality, good governance, democracy and the rule of law, with a strong focus on gender equality and the empowerment of women and girls, and on preventing and combating violence against women as essential preconditions for equitable and inclusive sustainable development, as well as important values and objectives in themselves.

Madame Chair,

Malta reaffirms its right to oppose any recommendations which could in

Madame Chair,

In conclusion I would like to take this opportunity to augur this session of the Commission a successful outcome. The Government of Malta remains committed to engage with its international partners in delivering on the promise of a better and fairer world for present and future generations.

Thank you.
