

Chandrababu Naidu

Chief Minister, Tamil Nadu

It is a matter of regret that the Government of Tamil Nadu has not taken any steps to provide the necessary facilities for the welfare of the women in the State. It is a matter of regret that the Government of Tamil Nadu has not taken any steps to provide the necessary facilities for the welfare of the women in the State.

It is a matter of regret that the Government of Tamil Nadu has not taken any steps to provide the necessary facilities for the welfare of the women in the State.

It is a matter of regret that the Government of Tamil Nadu has not taken any steps to provide the necessary facilities for the welfare of the women in the State.

118

119

120

It is a matter of regret that the Government of Tamil Nadu has not taken any steps to provide the necessary facilities for the welfare of the women in the State. It is a matter of regret that the Government of Tamil Nadu has not taken any steps to provide the necessary facilities for the welfare of the women in the State.

It is a matter of regret that the Government of Tamil Nadu has not taken any steps to provide the necessary facilities for the welfare of the women in the State.

It is a matter of regret that the Government of Tamil Nadu has not taken any steps to provide the necessary facilities for the welfare of the women in the State.

It is a matter of regret that the Government of Tamil Nadu has not taken any steps to provide the necessary facilities for the welfare of the women in the State.

It is a matter of regret that the Government of Tamil Nadu has not taken any steps to provide the necessary facilities for the welfare of the women in the State.

It is a matter of regret that the Government of Tamil Nadu has not taken any steps to provide the necessary facilities for the welfare of the women in the State.

It is a matter of regret that the Government of Tamil Nadu has not taken any steps to provide the necessary facilities for the welfare of the women in the State.

These children, who are orphaned and abandoned children.

they must be treated with the same care and attention that they receive from their parents and should be considered as a family reparation, which in the past has not been

Mr. / Madam Chair,

On various occasions since 2011, the ICRC has underscored the potential adverse effects on humanitarian action of certain counter-terrorism measures taken by States, both internationally and domestically.

Humanitarian activities undertaken by impartial humanitarian organizations, including those in favour of wounded and sick fighters, must never be considered as a form of unlawful support to

