

Report of the Secretary-General on the work of the Organization

Following is the Secretary-General's report on the work of the Organization [A/71/1], dated 5 July 2016, submitted to the seventy-first session of the General Assembly. The Assembly took note of it on 5 October 2016 (deci ion 71/505).

Chapter I Introduction

In the area of peace and security, I made con ict prevention a priority throughout my time in o ce, beginning with strengthening United Nations capacity in mediation and preventive diplomacy. e proof of these reforms has been in the height-ened demand throughout the decade and across the globe from Member States and regional partners for preventive diplomacy, mediation and mediation support from the United Nations. In 2016 alone, my envoys continue the painstaking work of diplomacy on the Syrian Arab Renvc, Vm47.4 (e)-1.8 (n28.4 (, )0.5 Lc)-1 yteamewor22.6kedi-121.5(s)-6.2cs reeta oprationeandcountr elwo.9 (r13-1 lh)6.9 deat32 (o)0.5 (a)0.5 arccoria ore onee t27.1 (e t)-2595 (h)652 ed (e)-10 ceerido (c)1.3 neenen-54.7 t growing polarization and crises, a new era for sustainable development was needed. e experiences and evidence from the e orts to achieve the Millennium Development Goals demonstrated that we know what to do, but also indicated a need for deeper approaches that can tackle root causes and do more to integrate the economic, social and environmental dimensions of sustainable development.

1. The 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development

20. On 25 September 2015, world leaders gathered in New York to adopt the historic 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development. e Agenda is the product of one of the most inclusive and holisnes tt iU(n)1696 and ownership are critical, these countries depend on global partnerships for nancial resources, policy advice and technical assistance. The Istanbul Programme of Action, the political declaration adopted at the midterm review of the Programme of Action, the Vienna Programme of Action and the Samoa Pathway are compacts that address the challenges and opportunities of these groups of countries. ese dedicated programmes of action complement 0.247 Tw provides a solid foundation for the climate-resilient transformation of the global economy in a manner that is sensitive to human rights and gender equality. Now it is critical to translate commitment is transformation will help to secure into action. a future that is safer, healthier and more prosperous for all. Action at every level, from the local to the global, must accelerate. We have no time to waste, and much to gain, by moving quickly down a lower-carbon pathway. Climate nance is critical for catalysing action on the ground and for building political e de nition of a politically credible trajectory for achieving the goal of $100 billion per year by 2020, and the full operationalization of the Green Climate Fund and the approval of its rst projects by the Board of the Fund in November 2015, were 944739 TOUCTAIN FOO STING AS TOUR CONTINUE OF THE PROPERTY OF € 9 of services in protracted crises in remote locations and reaching the marginalized.

6

1. Con ict prevention and mediation

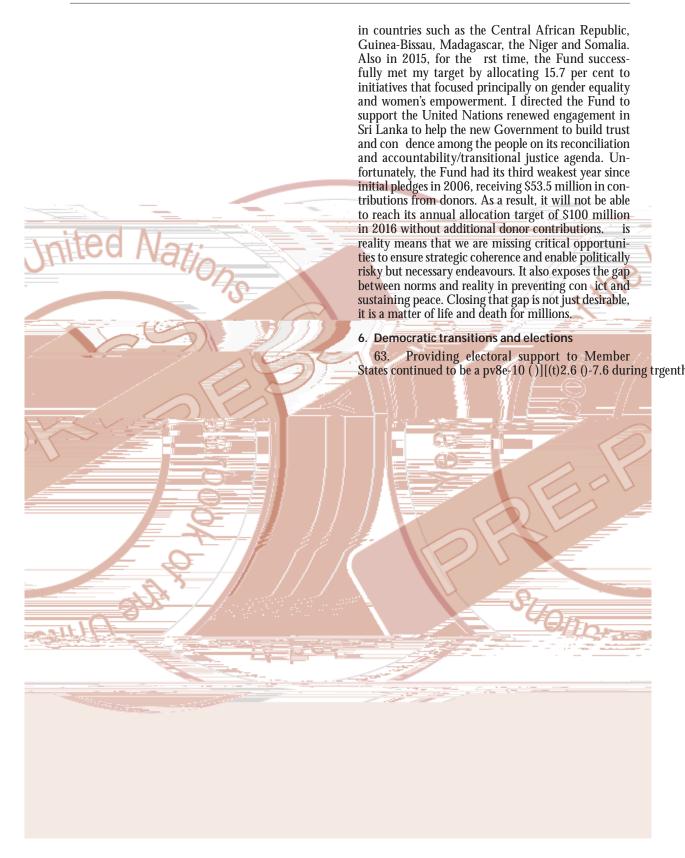

e rst and clearest priority, an unambiguous lesson of the reporting period, is that con ict prevention and mediation need to be brought back to the centre of all United Nations engagements. con icts in the Syrian Arab Republic and Yemen as well as the crisis in Burundi demonstrate the need for more, not fewer, of these activities. e large movements of refugees and migrants around the world also underscored the need to address the root causes of these movements and the con icts that prompt them. It was also the central appeal of the three important peace and security reviews conducted in 2015 — on peace operations, on peacebuilding and on Security Council resolution 1325 (2000). Prevention is a responsibility under the Charter, one that must be shared by the United Nations, Member States, regional and subregional organizations, and civil society.

40. I continued to o er my good o ces and to undertake con ict prevention, preventive diplomacy will require coherence and complementarity between global, continental, regional, national and local e orts. e continent has embarked on the rst ten-year implementation plan for the African Union Agenda 2063. e Agenda's people-centred approach promises to enhance inclusive economic and social progress and its emphasis on agriculture development, infrastructure development and industrialization provides critical drivers for job creation and poverty eradication. e United Nations system is supporting the e orts of the African Union, the New Partnership for Africa's Development (NEPAD) and African regional economic communities for the e ective implementation of the new agendas. 6286

6

to keep human rights concerns front and centre of € 17

G. Disarmament e elimination of nuclear and all other weapons of mass destruction remains a central but elusive objective of the United Nations. Despite commitments from Member States, there has been limited progress on this long-standing goal. For nuclear weapons, this is largely due to growing tensions between nuclear-armed States and sclerotic disarmament machinery. I am deeply disappointed that the Comprehensive Nuclear-Test-Ban Treaty is not yet in force 20 years after it was negotiated and that a ssile material treaty has not been negoe fourth nuclear test by the Democratic People's Republic of Korea in January 2016 and its ballistic missile launches remain a source of serious international concern. 96.

€ 21

practices and advancing United Nations goals. A ma-

