Chapeau

(Add your concise, concrete, and action-oriented language for the Chapeau)

- Create a resolution through the UN General Assembly to establish a new human rights issue called “youth equity.” Youth equity shall be defined as the state of equal ease of access to resources and opportunities for youth, including economic participation and decision-making, and the state of practicing mindful consideration and stewardship of future generations.
- Create an office on future generations as well as an Envoy on Future Generations and an observance for Future Generations called Day of Future Generations.
- Redefine youth to be the ages of 18-35 so as to be in accordance with the Convention of the Rights of the Child so that a child is defined as anyone under 18 years old.
- Define future generations as the first seven generations that have not yet wielded a majority position of power so as to be in alignment with the Seven Generations Principle.
